Questions 147 to 150 refer to the following memo

What employers are looking for?

Emphasize your most current work experience and emphasize it a lot! Employers care more about your recent skills and recent employment history. Be sure to speak to this in the job objective of your resume before you dive into your job history. This will be sure to grab their attention and the hiring manager or employer will want to read more.

Always include a cover letter when distributing your resume. Even if you think the company that you are applying with does not require one, go above and beyond and tailor each cover letter to the specific job that you are applying for. That way, employers know you're really interested in their available opportunity.

Distribute your resume on multiple job boards and niche career sites to maximize your exposure. All job seekers should be networking their resume as much as possible.

Questions 172-174 refer to the following letter

Hi Tom,

Apologies for not getting back to you yesterday.

The feedback from Andy was entirely positive. We think you'd be just the person to look after our technical support. I realize this has taken a rather long time to get this far, so thank you for being patient.

We would like to contract you as a sub-contractor ASAP. As the amount of work to start with will be very small, we would start with US$1000 per month, rising as the work load increases to $1500 and presumably above that should your hours continue to increase. Does that sound acceptable?

As this is part-time, you are clearly at liberty to take other part-time work. However, we would expect, and include in the contract, that you will respond to support calls, both email and phone, within the same day.

The payment system would be that we will wire-transfer the dollar amount each month to your bank account. But you will be responsible for all local taxes, security, etc. I don't know how you currently contract with HCL, but possibly in a similar way to this?

So you will need to invoice us monthly (by email) for the contracted fees and any additional costs that are incurred.

172. What is this letter for?

- (A) Bank account setup
- (B) Contract with HCL
- (C) Feedback from Andy
- (D) Technical support job offer

173. How much work will be there?

- (A) Little work in the beginning, rising with time.
- (B) Very heavy and long hours work
- (C) Full time work
- (D) Not mentioned

174. What kind of work is there?

- (A) Setting up a postal business address
- (B) Setting up a toll-free phone number
- (C) Purchase of a new computer
- (D) Support calls, both email and phone, within the same day.

Questions 175-176 refer to the following letter

These additional costs will include:

- Setting up a postal business address
- Setting up a toll-free phone number
- Purchase of a new computer (spec to be agreed)

Rather than elaborate further on the details here now, can you let me know whether the basic structure of the above is acceptable?

Again, thank you very much for being patient with this slow process, but I'm sure you understand that contracting people unseen and at a great distance, for a sensitive customer-facing role, is something we wouldn't do too hastily.

Best regards,
Richard

175. How will he be paid?

- (A) By postal transfer
- (B) By cash on month end
- (C) By bank transfer at month end
- (D) Need to collect the money

176. What has to be done at month end for payment?

- (A) Responsible for local taxes

Dear Ms. Elliott

Thank you for sending me the catalogue for Shine 7 electric toothbrushes.

Before I place an order, I would like to ask you a question. I am thinking about buying electric toothbrushes for my children as well. However, one of them, 9 years old, has small jaws and so needs a toothbrush with a small head. But the brushes for children in your catalogue seem to be bigger than the conventional toothbrushes. I just wonder if you have any smaller brush heads. Also, could you possibly let me know the size (approximate width and length) of the smallest brush you have?

Thank you for your assistance.

Best regards,
Alison Forbs

197. What enables the brush head to any corner in your mouth?

- (A) It's vibration.
- (B) The special material of the brush.
- (C) Brushing techniques Shine Star recommends.
- (D) It's compact shape of the brush head.

198. What is the problem with one of Alison Forbs' sons?

- (A) His teeth decay easily.
- (B) He wouldn't brush teeth with his conventional toothbrush.
- (C) He doesn't like small brush heads.
- (D) He needs a small brush head because of his small jaws.

Dear Mrs. Forbs

We are glad to read that you are considering placing an order with us.

Fortunately we have special brush heads for toddlers which may be suitable to your son. The size of these brush heads is only 1 inch in diameter.

We think that this will be suitable to your son's small jaw.

We are looking forward to your order.

Sincerely yours
Megan Elliott
