

気持ちの伝え方(No.7-1)

~How to convey feelings~

「はい」の気持ちの伝え方

~How to convey feelings “Yes”~

At Home

- Richard : We had lots of office works today.
- Marie : I guess you are tired.
- Richard : Yes I am. I feel like going to bed early.
- Marie : Me too. I am tired and sleepy.
- Richard : How about eating our dinner now?
- Marie : Okay!

At the Beach

- Janice : Where did you spend your vacation last summer?
- May : We went to Canada.
- Janice : How long did you stay there?
- May : I think it's about one month.
- Janice : Did you enjoy that trip?
- May : Absolutely.

Short Quiz

1. Aside from absolutely, there are other words that mean 'YES'.

Study the words below and use them in a sentence:

definitely sure of course precisely certainly exactly

2. State your opinion on the statements:

Confidence is saying YES to what you think is YES.

Trusting is saying YES to what you think is NO.

気持ちの伝え方(No.7-2)

~How to convey feelings~

「いいえ」の気持ちの伝え方

~How to convey feelings “No”~

In the meeting room

Niki : I agree that high taxes should be imposed for gasoline.

Jimie : Sorry, but I disagree with you. It is not a good idea to implement high taxes for gasoline.

Niki : But I think this is one way of controlling the cause of global warming.

Jimie : I don't think so.
The best way is to find alternative for gasoline.

Niki : That's not easy.
It would take a century to discover the solution.

At the beach

Yuri : Is scuba diving one of your favorite hobbies?

Sam : Absolutely not. I don't even know how to swim.

Yuri : Really? I love scuba diving especially during summer.
Would you like to join us and try?

Sam : I'm afraid not. I am hydrophobic.

Yuri : Maybe mountain climbing is better for you.

Short Quiz

1. Aside from absolutely, there are other words that mean 'NO'.

Study the words below and use them in a sentence:

no chance

definitely not no way

2. State your opinion on the statements:

Bravery is saying NO to what you believe is NO.

Sacrifice is saying NO to what you think is YES.

気持ちの伝え方(No.7-3)
~How to convey feelings~
お礼の仕方
~ Way of Thanks~

At home

Kim : I prepared breakfast for you on the dining table.
She : I appreciate your concern. Thank you so much.
Kim : I was just worried about your health.
She : I am fine. I think I need a really long sleep.
Kim : Ok, I will leave you here at home for a while.

At the party

Jan : Welcome Carol!
Carol : I'm so honored for your invitation Jan.
Jan : I am happier because you are here.
Thank you so much for coming.
Carol : And thank you for inviting me here. I missed our chat.
Jan : Me too. I missed everything we did before.

Short Quiz

1. Will you be angry at someone who is ungrateful?
2. In your opinion, how important is thanking?
3. Should you be thankful for someone who has done you wrong things?

気持ちの伝え方(No.7-4)

~How to convey feelings~

返礼する

~ Response to Thanks ~

At the party

- Yosuke : It's good to see you here in the party Jimmy.
- Jimmy : My pleasure to be with your party Yosuke.
- Yosuke : Why don't you have some drinks with the others?
- Jimmy : Sure. I will eat first before taking some drinks.
- Yosuke : Join us in the living room later.

At the canteen

- Chika : Jay, thank you for helping me get an extra job.
I am able to pay my debts now.
- Jay : No problem. You can always count on me.
- Chika : Thank you for that.
- Jay : I will let you know if I can find a job for you.
- Chika : It will be my pleasure to hear from you soon.

Short Quiz

1. Aside from the words in the conversation, there are many ways to respond to a word of thanks.

Study the words below and try to use them in a sentence:

Anytime No problem It's my honor

You're welcome Don't mind it It's nothing

2. Do you feel it's an obligation to do good on other people?

3. How will you react if there is no response when you say "Thank you" to a person?

気持ちの伝え方(No.7-5)

~How to convey feelings~

謝罪する

~ Apology ~

In the living room

Ever : Mother, I broke the flower vase in the garden.

Mother :What's the color of the vase?

Ever :I think it's pink. I am really sorry mother.

I didn't mean it.

Mother :Just try to fix everything in the garden.

Ever :Thank you mother. I love you.

In the bed room

Ann : Father, I apologize if I hurt your feelings.

Father : It's ok Ann. I understand your situation.

Ann : Thank you so much Father.

Father : Don't mind it. I have something for you on the dining table.

Ann : Really? Thank you so much.

Short Quiz

1. Why do Japanese people bow when they express apology?
2. Is apology enough? Explain your answer.
3. Do you say your apology immediately if you have done something wrong, or will you wait for someone to discover your mistake?

気持ちの伝え方(No.7-6)

~How to convey feelings~

謝罪に应答する

~ Response to Apology ~

At home

Weng : I'm really sorry Kim, I lost the phone you gave me.

Kim : I think it's not your fault, Weng.

Weng : I do apologize for losing the phone.

Kim : No problem. We can still buy another one next time.

At the parking area

Jane : I'm sorry I broke your car.

Christy : The damage has been done.

Jane : Don't worry. I'll take care of the repair cost.

Christy : You have to. I want it fix until tomorrow.

Jane : I'll try my best.

Short Quiz

1. Should you always forgive whenever there is somebody who asks for an apology?
2. Mention any mistakes or faults that you think are forgiveable and those that you are not.
3. Measure the extent of your rage. Recall a situation where you were so angry at someone and you didn't forgive his/her mistakes.